

NORDIC DISPENSER™

Series 1990

Way up in northern Europe lies the Kingdom of Sweden. Here, in this long country, you'll find Nyland, a small community with a precise location — 2,975 km from the North Pole, 6,348 km east of New York, and 1,394 km north of Berlin.

In that exact location is a host of industrious Norrlanders who want to be the world's best producers of tape dispensers! We think that our surroundings are so good, so nice and so beautiful, that we'd like to seize this opportunity to tell you a bit about ourselves and our country while we present our products.

The photograph above is from the "High Coast", which is situated a few dozen miles east of Nyland. This section of coast is so named because of the large differences in elevation between the land and the sea. One of the small islands along the coast is 236 metres high – tops in Sweden!

Quick-loading, ergonomic versions of this popular range are also available, with one-thumb press action.

Sweden became a member of the European Union in 1995. Although it is, as yet, impossible to predict what effect this will have on our future, we are well aware that we'll have to be more effective if we want to take advantage of the larger market. We may not have any corn fields, (it's more profitable to grow corn further south in Europe), but we do have lovely meadows with wild flowers to feast our eyes on.
